AIRSPACE CHANGE IS A SEPARATE PROCESS TO DCO AND IS GOVERNED BY THE CAA

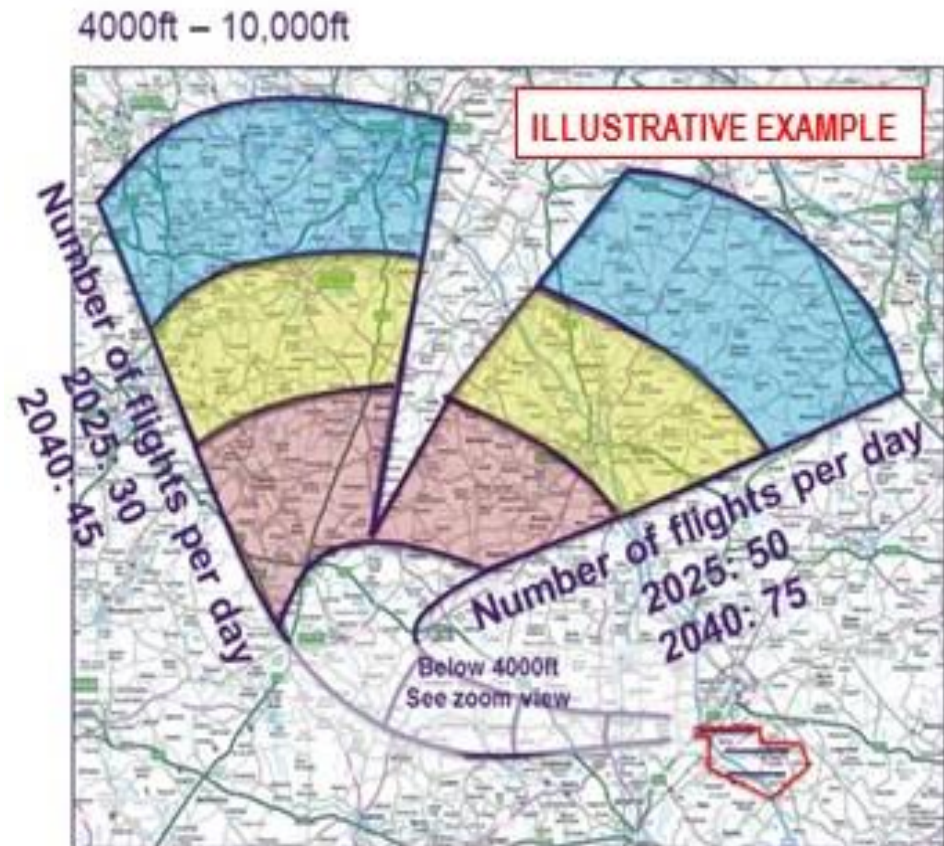

NEXT STEPS & INDICATIVE TIMELINE

DESIGN ENVELOPES CONSULTATION- STAGE 2

- This stage will seek to understand what local factors (within the defined envelopes) should be taken into consideration when designing where the future flight routes should go.
- There will be tighter design envelopes at low levels where more certainty exists, and wider envelopes where final alignments with upper airspace still need to be determined.
- There will be an initial Environmental Impact Assessment for each option.
- While the routes are not drawn, the potential impact is described.
